Sustainable Soils in Practice: A Revisit of Traditional Approaches through Innovation

Participate: As a sponsor and/or exhibitor at the Great Rivers Fall Conference & Expo. The Great Rivers Chapter of The International Erosion Control Association (GRIECA) is available to bring together the network of professionals in the erosion and sediment control industry, share the latest technology, and provide educational experiences for the dissemination of knowledge toward the attainment of effective and economical methods of preventing erosion and sedimentation. The chapter serves members located in Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Nebraska.

What it is ALL ABOUT: This 1.5 day conference and trade show highlights innovations achieved over the past 25 years in erosion & sediment control, stormwater management, and soil health. Join stormwater professionals from around the Midwest to learn about Construction General Permit (CGP) Compliance, Post-Construction Stormwater management, and innovative municipal stormwater policy and program funding strategies. Speakers and content range from the core focus of the International Erosion Control Association, to trends in science and research on soil health, surface water quality, and much more!
